

GALLANT CADETS WERE SEASICK

High School Boys Took Ocean Ride.

GAVE CREDITABLE DRILL

Exhibition at Ocean City Much Praised by People Who Witnessed the Maneuvers.

WASHINGTON HIGH SCHOOL CADET CAMP, Ocean City, N. J., Aug. 19. —The battalion drill and parade of the cadets here last evening proved the most interesting event of the day. The two companies formed on their respective company streets at 7 p. m. After a short inspection of the equipments of each cadet, they were marched to the city park or temporary parade grounds. There each company held a short drill, going through several movements with such precision as to elicit much applause from the spectators. Full dress uniforms were worn by both the officers and men. At 7:30 the battalion was formed under the command of Colonel Fulton. After a short drill the companies were marched down Asbury avenue to Seventh street and then back again to the camp.

An Exhibition Drill.

Company A will give an exhibition drill on the beach in front of the camp this evening and Company C will do the same tomorrow evening. Both of these companies have done good work here during the past two weeks.

Several men will leave camp tomorrow morning. These are the cadets who only enlisted for two weeks. A number of others are expected down Saturday night to fill out the unexpired terms of the departing cadets. Among those who leave tomorrow morning are Major Potter and Captain Law.

The baseball team is going to play the Ocean City professionals this afternoon. The cadets so far have won all of the games they have played and the only team that was left in town to play was the strong professional nine.

A number of cadets got up a cruising party yesterday of about twenty members, and went to sea in a small 30-footer. It was the first time some of the boys had ever ridden the "sad sea waves," and from the way some looked when they landed, it may be their last.

Each cadet was sure he would not be the first to get sick, and as is always the case, the cadet who first started the vomiting was the first to wish he was on land once again.

"When out about five miles," so the story goes, "one of the boys suddenly became very sleepy and wanted to lie down. Nothing was said, and the sleepy (?) cadet was given room for a stretch. The other members of the party were wise, and never said a word until poor Mr. Sleepy jumped up, as white as a sheet, and yelled for the captain to cast anchor, as he wanted to get off and walk back."

Then Fun Began.

"Then the fun began. The sick cadet seeing that he was 'up against it,' just anchored himself, and soon had the laugh on the other cadets, one after another, until the bay was reached. The boys, to offset the teasing they got when they arrived in camp, said that the captain told them it was one of the rough days he had ever seen on the ocean."

The record week of the camp has reached a successful ending. This morning twelve cadets, all wearing the healthy tan "Old Sol" bestowed upon them during the last two weeks, broke camp at 6 a. m. and departed shortly afterward for the Capital City. Many friends of the departing cadets gathered at the station to see the "soldiers" off. All of the departing cadets thanked Capt. C. O. Howard for the splendid outing his unceasing efforts had brought to them. The boys have made many friends in town, and they were treated so well by all that the only regret they had was that next summer was twelve months away.

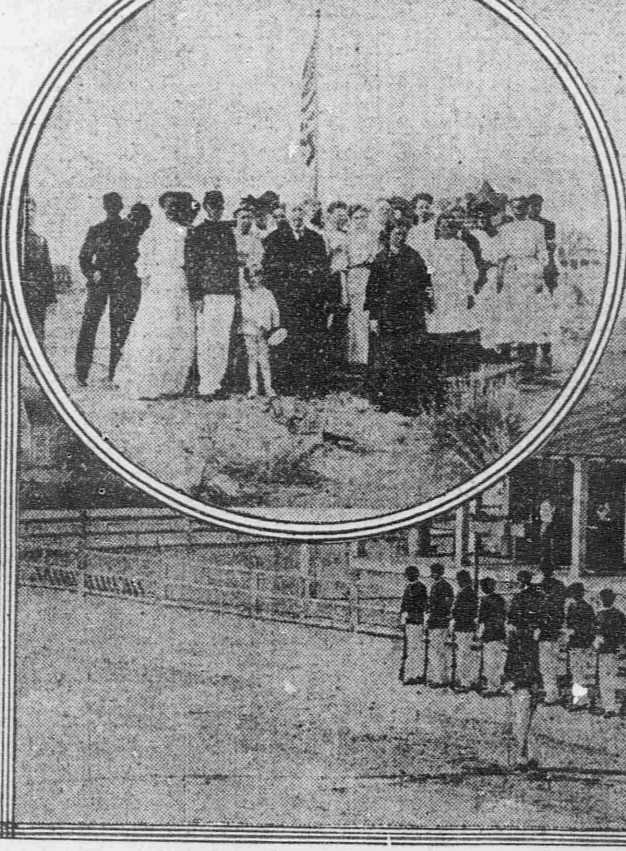

Early last evening the "send off" which the remaining cadets always give their departing comrades began to appear in every imaginable form.

A good farewell supper was hardly finished before the noise and fun began. Auction sales were held in the front of each boy's tent who was going to leave. Basins, buckets, lamps, chairs, stools, and everything needed in a camp could be purchased at almost nothing. After this was over all turned out for the grand celebration. Old tin pans and sticks furnished the music for the parade through the company street. The "Old Blanket" was stretched by each member of the "departing gang," and a mighty one-sided looking blanket it was, too, when each one had had his turn in it. After dark the fireworks and noise kept everyone out until "taps" was sounded at 10 o'clock.

The new recruits who are coming down to fill the vacancies made by the men who left this morning arrived on the late train last night. Everything has been done to give them a "grand" reception. The cadets who just arrived the other day and who received their knapsacks have planned a grand revenge, and the blanket is sure to come in for its part in the fun.

WITH THE CADET CORPS OF THE WASHINGTON HIGH SCHOOLS WHO ARE SPENDING THEIR VACATION BY THE SAD SEA WAVES AT OCEAN CITY, N. J.

Visitors at Headquarters.

Company A in front of U.S. Life Saving Station. Capt. F. S. Marlow, Commanding.

Both were attended by a large number of cadets in full dress. The entertainments on the piers are visited every evening by different cadets, and especially the "yacht club show," on Young's Pier, which was crowded with the cadets Thursday morning. These, with the visits of some of the cadets to Atlantic City, filled the program for the pleasure side of the camp last week.

Athletes in Training.

The athletes are training for the athletic meet which is to be held before the close of camp. Many of the boys combine pleasure with their training by visiting the bowling alleys on the boardwalk. Some of the cadets are bowling very high, and the old-timers are watching them with interest.

Hair cutting in camp.

COL. THOS. J. SHANNON HONORED BY COMRADES

Presented With Beautiful Badge by Members of Encampment No. 111, Union Veteran Legion.

Last Tuesday night, Encampment No. 111, Union Veteran Legion, of this city, held a meeting at its hall, 316 Pennsylvania avenue southeast. The session was out short for the purpose of holding a social session. The social meeting commenced at 8:30 and was attended by members of Encampment No. 69, Union Veteran Legion, by the Legion of Loyal Women and by the Ladies' Auxiliary, No. 32, Union Veteran Legion. It was opened with a prayer by Rev. Henry N. Couden, chaplain of Encampment No. 111. A piano solo was played by Mrs. Anna Martin, recitations were given by Mrs. William F. True, Mr. Hall and Miss May Smith, and a solo was given by W. A. Smith, who was accompanied by Mrs. Hayes.

The colonel of No. 111, James A. Allen, then stated that it was a splendid custom for societies to reward past officers and efficient members, and that it was his pleasant duty to make such a reward to one of the comrades of No. 111. He called upon Post Col. William Wilson to conduct Past Col. Thomas Jefferson Shannon to the front. The latter at present is chief of staff to the national commander of the Union Veteran Legion.

Colonel Allen made a short address and concluded by stating that comrade Shannon was charged with various acts tending to the welfare of needy comrades, and that therefore he was requested to wear on his breast hereafter on all occasions of ceremony the splendid badge with which his comrades had determined he should be decorated. He then called on Mrs. Ella S. Knight, president of Auxiliary No. 32, to aid him in holding Comrade Shannon while the badge was being pinned on him. The badge is six inches long, of gold and enamel, the pin being a spread eagle with pendants consisting of a field with a single star, denoting the recipient's present rank as chief of staff to the national commander, a corps mark (white maltese cross, denoting the Second Division of the Fifth corps, Army of the Potomac, to which his regiment was attached; Fourteenth United States Infantry, in which he served three years during the civil war, having enlisted at the age of fifteen) then a field containing a silver eagle (the mark of a past colonel of the Union Veteran Legion), and then the main pendant, being a large star of the Union Veteran Legion in gold, splendidly engraved with the name and military service of the recipient, and of magnificent workmanship. Comrade Shannon was much overcome by the affair, the preparation for which was kept a secret.

Still Forcing Out the Summer Merchandise at Away Below Cost

A Very Remarkable Sale of Finest Silk Waists

$2.98

We have received in advance of our regular fall purchase, one of the choicest and hand-somest lots of New Fall Silk Waists that will come to Washington for many a long day. And these beautiful Waists—nearly 1,000 of them all told—we have determined to place in a rousing big sale, and at a price that in many cases would scarcely pay for the trimmings. It's a chance few women will want to miss, for remember that these high-class waists are right from the hands of the tailors, and represent the very newest of the coming season's effects and styles.

These fine waists are of richest, softest, and finest Taffeta and Peau de Soie Silk; colors are black, white, and all the shades to be worn; each waist is exquisitely designed, some with lace insertion, some designed with embroidery, some finished with elaborate hemstitching and tucks. The values are from $5 to $8. Choice at $2.98. On sale on first floor.
